Dr. Zhu obtained the Bachelor degree from Zhejiang University in 2003. He got his Ph. D degree from Peking Union Medical College in 2008. His Ph. D dissertation focused on high-throughput drug screening and vascular active agent discovery from natural products. After graduation, he had one year postdoctoral training in School of Chemical and Biomedical Engineering in Nanyang Technological University in Singapore. His research focused on developing a fluorescence resonance energy transfer (FRET)-based biosensor for tumor angiogenesis inhibitors discovery. In 2010, he worked as a Research Associate in Prince of Wales Hospital in The Chinese University of Hong Kong. His research direction was using nanomaterials for biomedical applications including drug delivery, cell imaging, cancer diagnostics and therapy. In January of 2014, he joined Macau University of Science and Technology (MUST). He has published more than 40 papers in SCI journals.
